

Here's what participants had to say about the 2009 CTK Men's Retreat:

"I am experiencing classic midlife burnout, and weakness of faith. I was hoping to make contact with other brothers to be reminded that others around me are also interested in finding the real Jesus in daily life. I definitely found that at Asilomar."

"This was another inspirational retreat for me and I thank CTK and the committee for their sponsorship and organization. Fr. Dave was dynamic and enlightening offering us much to contemplate."

"It is difficult to express the full impact of this, my second retreat. Again I experienced the welcoming fellowship of the men of Christ the King in a truly beautiful setting with a positive message of faith and optimism. Especially in these uncertain times, the strength I gained not only helps me accept the challenges we face, but gives me the fuel to be a positive force in the community."

"Connecting with other guys about the importance of faith in our lives is one of the biggest advantages of a retreat like this."

"Never having been on a real religious Retreat before, I did not know quite what to expect . . . Certainly, it was spiritually refreshing & rewarding."

"I found the weekend spiritually refreshing and satisfying. As the father of two, the ability to get away and "think big thoughts" without distractions was delightful."

* * *

If you'd like to be put in contact with someone who went last year, please contact the Retreat Coordinator, Matt von Ruden at (925) 349-4575 or e-mail ctkmensretreat@comcast.net.